Education as a Door

Take a hit at those books
Let your mind explore
Unknown world of imagination and more
Reach out to your resources
That your teacher can provide
But don't limit yourself to school because you will need more to survive

Venture out your window
Into the reality of today
Make sure you make time to go outside and play
Don't let the classroom setting consume you
Listen to your heart cause that's all you can do

Socialize with the ones around you
Make strong friendships and bonds
Before you know it they will be gone
Nothing but a memory of the past
Everyone simply grows up too fast

The ABC's that you learn turn into your own story
Life around you will be your influence that feeds each line
Be different and be you
It will give others the clue

Open your eyes and your mind
Each step you take, let it be your own
Keep an outstretched hand that is always free
And no one will be left behind.
